1. Claims 1-16 have been examined. Application 10/775,246 (ADVERTISING ON VIDEO EVENT DISPLAY SYSTEMS) has a filing date 02/11/2004 and is a continuation in part of 10232603, filed 09/03/2002.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ebisawa (US 5,946,664).

Claims 1, 9 and 16, Ebisawa teaches:

A method of advertising for use by a Service Provider comprising the steps of:

receiving an identification from a video event display system (see col 2, lines 23-30 "game identification code"), providing an advertisement from a plurality of advertisements to the video event display system for displaying the advertisement on the video event display system (see col 2, lines 30-35);

providing a video event to be displayed on the video event display system (see col 3, lines 20-35); and displaying the advertisement on the video event display system while the video event is being displayed on the video event display system (see col 3, lines 20-35; figures 1a, 1b, 2a, 2b).

Claims 2 and 10, Ebisawa teaches:

wherein the advertisement is a static advertisement (see col 3, lines 20-35).

Claims 3 and 11, Ebisawa teaches:

wherein the advertisement is an animated advertisement (see col 3, lines 50-65
"Ads A, C are replaced by ads B, D").

Claims 4 and 12, Ebisawa teaches:

wherein the advertisement is displayed in a designated advertising space, the designated advertising space being selected in connection with the video event being displayed on the video event display system (see figures 1a, 1b, 2a, 2b).

Claims 5 and 13, Ebisawa teaches:

wherein the designated advertising space is incorporated into the video event being displayed on the video event display system (figures 1a, 1b, 2a, 2b).

Claims 6 and 14, Ebisawa teaches:

wherein the identification received from the video event display system includes information about the video event to be displayed on the video event display system (see col 6, lines 60-67 "identification data identifies the game program stored on the optical disk").

Claims 7 and 15, Ebisawa teaches:

wherein the advertisement out of the plurality of advertisements is selected according to specifications provided by the video event to be displayed on the video event display system (see col 5, lines 20-30).

Claim 8, Ebisawa teaches:

wherein the video event display system comprises either one of set-top box, a gaming console, or a set-top box gaming system (see col 1, lines 15-20).

Conclusion
